J.M. MARLIN, AN AMERICAN STORY.

The Marlin Firearms Company

In 1870, John M. Marlin set out to build firearms that matched America's fierce independent spirit. Although rifles, pistols and shotguns of nearly every type would bear the Marlin brand, his singular accomplishment would be a lever action of exceptional strength, smoothness and accuracy – hallmarks of the legendary lever guns that outperform all others to this day.

Marlin proudly marks its 150th anniversary with the modern descendants of that same lever action – now built with the tightest manufacturing tolerances in our history and custom-grade performance enhancements rarely seen in a lever-gun platform. Long live the adventurous spirit of the woods and the right to pursue wild game. Long live American innovation and pride in craft.

LONG LIVE THE LEVER GUN.

Single-shot rifle believed to be a Marlin prototype to replace the ballard.

LONG LIVE THE LEVER GUN, CONTINUOUSLY INNOVATING THE STRONGEST, SMOOTHEST, MOST ACCURATE LEVER ACTIONS OF ALL TIME.

IT'S THE CLASSIC AMERICAN LONG GUN.

Accuracy starts in the materials and the craftsmanship. Marlin uses the finest materials to create the strongest receivers. MODEL 1895

OUR LEVER-ACTION LEGACY

It's the classic American long gun, a tool of history and just as much a symbol of the Old West as the six-shooter. The Marlin brand is synonymous with lever-action repeaters. It's a rich tradition, with a heritage stretching back to the Model 1881, our first centerfire, and the Model 1891, our first rimfire. In fact, Annie Oakley trusted the Model 1891 above all others to demonstrate her legendary marksmanship. Today, hunters and sportsmen alike are still demonstrating their marksmanship with Marlin rifles. Marlin is the first name in lever-action firearms, producing classics like our 1894 carbines, 1895 rifles and our top-of-the-line 336 series. Each is made from premium grade steel to create the strongest lever-gun receiver ever built. The action of the lever is ultra-smooth for rapid follow-up shots. And for rock-solid reliability, heat-treated solid-steel forgings are used for the receiver and trigger guard plate. Marlin is always working to improve these timeless rifles with new technology.

MARLIN'S NEW DARK SERIES AIN'T YOUR GRANDPAPPY'S LEVER GUN NRA 2019 BY JORDAN MICHAELS \ FEATURED IN GUNSAMERICA DIGEST

Yeah, yeah. We get it. It's a suppressor-ready blacked-out lever gun with a pic rail and paracord loop. Your grandpappy is rolling in his grave.

But as much as we wanted to complain about the tacticoool bros ruining classic Americana, we got a chance to handle (or fondle, as the case may be) Marlin's new Dark Model 336 and Model 1895 at this year's NRA Annual Meetings and Exhibits, and we gotta admit—these guns are cool.

The Model 336 is chambered in 30-30 WIN and the big-bore Model 1895 is chambered in 45-70 Govt. Otherwise, the two rifles differ only in the thread pitch on the muzzle. Both come with a paracord sling, a ghost ring rear sight, and a five-shot full-length tubular magazine.

Weighing in at 7.65 pounds with an overall length of 34.5" and a 16.25" barrel, Marlin's Dark Series rifles are maneuverable enough to handle whatever might come, even with a suppressor.

Remington Firearms, Marlin's parent company, wasn't shooting from the hip when they decided to tacticalize these classic rifles. Product Manager Eric Lundgren told GunsAmerica that his team spent time studying customer feedback on their current offerings and tracking the trends coming out of custom shops.

Turns out, gun enthusiasts have been tinkering with their cowboy sidekicks for years, and Marlin is hoping their new Dark series can be a turnkey solution for lever lovers wanting to modify a classic rifle.

The most noticeable difference between the Dark Series and Marlin's more traditional offerings is the finish. The Dark rifles feature a parkerized metal finish, which Lundgren said is more rust resistant and less shiny than standard bluing. The stock is also blacked out with webbed paint.

The threaded barrel departs from Marlin's more recent offerings as well, and the suppressor looks a bit odd hanging off the end. But Lundgren pointed out that Marlin barrels were threaded many years ago, so perhaps it's not as much of a departure as it seems.

For weather resistance, all major components are crafted of stainless steel, and the woodwork is two-tone laminate. It has a full pistol grip, swivel studs and cut checkering.

MARLIN MODEL 336: A LEGACY OF INNOVATION

Dependable. Versatile. Accurate. American. The strongest, smoothest, fastest lever-action rifle ever made. Introduced in 1948, the Model 336 broke new ground in design with its solid-steel construction, full pistol grip, easily removable bolt for breech cleaning and — in a visionary move that saw the coming optics revolution—a solid, flattop receiver with side-ejection port to better accommodate a scope. In the mid-1950s, Marlin's Micro-Groove rifling technology set a new standard for lever-action accuracy. Hunters armed with trusty Model 336s have dispatched countless whitetails, varmints, hogs, moose, elk, and black bears over the last 70 years. Legendary innovation, rock-solid dependability and lightning-fast handling define the legacy of the Model 336 and make it one of the most iconic rifles of all time. Now, in 2020, that legendary reputation takes a giant leap forward with new-era precision for a modern, performance-minded generation of American hunters and shooters.

MODEL 336BL

America's favorite lever action keeps advancing. This time with a big loop lever for faster, more efficient chambering and ejection with gloves on, plus striking laminated woodwork that improves weather resistance and adds aesthetic appeal. Its 18½" barrel is handy in the brush, and the full-length magazine tube gives you 6-rounds of 30-30 Win assurance at the moment of truth.

MARLIN'S EXCLUSIVE MICRO-GROOVE TECHNOLOGY

Micro-Groove rifling has become synonymous with rimfire accuracy. Introduced in 1953 by Marlin, the Micro-Groove barrel continues to be revolutionary in terms of accuracy, creating a rimfire bore with many more lands and grooves than conventional rifling (see images below). This system results in less bullet distortion when fired. Less distortion plus a better gas seal leads to greater accuracy and tighter groups. Micro-Groove rifling is only available from Marlin.

ERGONOMIC STOCK

This ergonomic stock is designed for easy handling and improved fit and feel. This stock shoulders quickly and comfortably, helping to create textbook form round after round.

XT PISTOL GRIP

This pistol grip features a slight palm swell for a rich feel and solid grip. By improving the shooter's overall grip on the rifle, we are able to improve handling, shouldering, shooting form and ultimate accuracy.

THUMB AND TRIGGER SAFETY

In addition to the standard thumb safety, the XT Series features a trigger safety incorporated into the Pro-Fire Adjustable Trigger, which prevents the trigger from being pulled until the trigger safety is fully depressed, for an added level of safety and confidence.

REDUCED BOLT FORCE

Through improved trigger technology, we are able to reduce the overall bolt force release, for easier ejection and faster chambering.

XT PRO-FIRE ADJUSTABLE TRIGGER

Marlin's user-adjustable trigger system allows the shooter to customize the trigger pull weight between 3 and 6 lb, while providing the ultimate crispness and virtually zero creep. Everyone's finger works a little differently, and the Pro-Fire Adjustable Trigger accommodates those differences to ensure a crisp, smooth pull every time for better accuracy.
